

Annelie Green

“My overriding belief is that ‘change’ is always possible. Coaching is an excellent way to find out in which direction and just how much you want to change, and then to work out how to get there!”

Annelie is an experienced Executive Coach, Supervisor and Business Leader. She has worked across Europe and Southern Africa, and in Australia, New Zealand and America, providing a unique understanding of global business environments and the specific challenges executives face.

Experience

Annelie’s international corporate experience has always focused on developing business, teams and individuals in support of organisation strategy. She has held senior roles in national and international businesses, and has been part of start-up and merger teams across continents. Since 1990 she has successfully ran her own business, joining Chimento’s Coaching Academy in 2006, to deliver Executive Coaching to senior business leaders and Boards.

Her specific interests are in:

- Executive and Leadership coaching
- Team coaching
- Coaching supervision
- Business culture and values
- Talent management
- Mergers, acquisitions, business restructuring and downsizing

Annelie’s coaching is integrative: choosing approaches, models and exercises depending on the client’s preferences, needs, context and situation. Her coaching enhances performance and supports personal development through awareness of patterns, attitudes, behaviours and assumptions, explored in relation to the impact of these on the client, their stakeholders and their business. An action and results oriented approach helps clients to develop options and strategies using their strengths most effectively for themselves and their business.

She has worked with individuals to:

- Develop their Leadership signature
- Improve impact and presence
- Enhance communication
- Project management, problem-solving and decision-making
- Dealing with troubled relationships and conflict
- Plan, implement and manage organisational change

Annelie has conducted research into change, and has written and presented on selecting coaches. She is currently working on research into cross-cultural coaching. She is a member of the International Coaching Federation and the European Coaching and Mentoring Council.

Annelie is married to David, they live in West Berkshire and have one grown up son, Chris. She plays bad golf, enjoys gardening, yoga, travelling and cycling.

Selected client companies

Abbott Diabetes Care
Bosch
Boston Scientific
Bristol Myers Squibb
Exemplas
Forum Bioscience
Orange
Oxford Instruments
Shire Pharmaceuticals
Stiefel laboratories
Unipart
Vodafone

Education, qualifications, professional positions

Post Graduate Diploma in Integrative studies: Executive Coaching. University of Chester.

Masters in Management. University of the Witwatersrand.

BA Honours in Human Resource Development. University of Johannesburg

BA in Organisation Psychology and Communications. University of Johannesburg

